WET AND DRY FIGHTS
COL. DONOVAN SUGGESTS
WILL MUSSOLINI FALL?
DOES A TARIFF PROTECT

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PRIMARY CONTESTS throughout the country involve, many
of them, bitter wet-dry fights.

Some thirsty optimists tell you
with confidence: prohibition is on the downhill road, and will soon
come to an end. They will grow
old, gray and die, with prohibition
still in the constitution. To imagine that 36 out of 48 states would vote
to take it out, is folly.

COLONEL DONOVAN, better
known as "Fighting Bill," is said
to have a plan.

Since prohibition cannot be taken out of the constitution he would put in another amendment, nullifying the prohibition. It would give the federal government control of liquor transportation, with state
and local governments controlling
its sale.

Prohibitionists say that is like
suggesting an amendment to nullify
the women suffrage amendment by letting only three-legged women vote.

GEORGE SELDES, able newspaper man, returns from Europe,
predicting Mussolini's fall from
power with his Fascist government
trembling about its ears within a year.

Revolution will do the job, says
Mr. Seldes, and Mussolini's enemies
at home are preparing it. He thinks Mussolini might plunge Italy into war, to stave off revolution.

Other rulers have done that, and successfully.

France, evidently is convinced
that her first trouble will come from Italy, and seeks alternately to placate and terrify the
inflexible and forever untried Mussolini.

Concerning that powerful
leader, the marvel is that he has endured so long the terrific
strain of gigantic responsibility.
And a greater marvel is,
that with absolute power, and
so many attacks on his life, he has ruled so moderately.

IF YOU DOUBT that a tariff
can protect labor, ask Henry Ford
when he returns from France.

He used to "assemble" cars in France, sending the various parts
finished, putting them together.
Hereafter he will manufacture the entire car in France, inside the French tariff wall.

Thus, when a Frenchman buys
a Ford car, he will pay nothing but French labor, with a small payment
for Ford's brains.

Free traders might meditate on
that.

UNTIL RECENTLY A public school in Oklahoma City had 1,000
pupils absorbing knowledge.

Now the pupils are gone and in the front yard a "gusher" is spouting 65,000 barrels of oil a day. The well belongs to the city and will pay for schools able to educate
many times 1,000 pupils.

This ought to be a happy country,
since our only complaint is that we
have too much of everything.

SOMEBODY HAS BOUGHT a picture for $55, and experts say a genuine Rubens is hidden under the cheap outside painting, and is worth $25,000.

It may be a genuine Rubens, and yet not worth more than $55, or 55 cents. Pictures by Rubens in the Louvre, showing fat ladies in a royal procession, are worth less than 55 cents.

On the other hand, Rubens'

COLUMBIANA CO. FAIR DISPLAYS ARE COMPLETED

Throng Enters Gates Of Grounds Wednesday;
Races Start

SALEM PEOPLE TO ASSIST IN JUDGING
Public Schools In County
Have Exhibits; Stock
Entries Heavy

LISBON, Sept. 17.—Although the 81st annual fair of the Columbiana
County Agricultural society opened Tuesday the crowd did not begin to pass through the gates until today.
Only a few thousand entered the grounds Tuesday. Exhibits were not complete until late Tuesday
night.

Every foot of available display
space at the fair grounds is occupied this year. The western rodeo,
which is the leading feature of the fair, is attracting wide attention, and as there will be both a day and night fair this season, all previous attendance records are expected to be shattered.

Secretary H. E. Marsden this morning announced the following
judges:

Salem Man Named

Show horses referring to farm and work horses, J. E. Walton, Salem.
Cattle, under the charge of J. H.
Sinclair of Hanoverton, will be judged by George W. Deeds of Pataskala, O.

Swine is being judged by Paul Gerlaugh, chief of Animal Industry, Ohio Experiment Station, Wooster.

Grain, seed and vegetables judged
by E. O. Engle, Canton.

Fruits to be judged by C. W. Hall,
Salem.

Textile fabrics, fine arts and flowers judged by Mrs. J. C. Pottor, Salem, R. F. D. and Mrs. LeRoy Frederick, Leetonia, R. F. D.

Art photography judge by Mrs. F.

TUTTLE LEAVES FEDERAL POST

Official Urges Repeal Of Prohibition In His Statement

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Charles
H. Tuttle has announced his resignation as assistant states attorney
for the eighteenth amendment.

As a substitute for the amendment, he advocated a constitutional guarantee outlawing the saloon
system and private traffic in liquor,
and giving the federal government
full power to assist in enforcing these states which desire to retain prohibition. He advocated that control, sale and distribution of liquor in those states which desire
to go wet.

Pending legal action, he urged
strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead
act with full use in New York state
of the nuisance law to abolish
"plague spots of the liquor traffic."

Mr. Tuttle said his resignation
had been forwarded to President Hoover to take effect at his pleasure and not later than November 16.

Tuttle in a statement, said he was not a candidate for public office and did not wish to be considered in that respect.

Tuttle has been considered as a likely candidate for governor and
his position on the liquor question has been awaited with interest by party leaders.

Pastor Ordained At Meeting Of Church

Harry J. Butcher, pastor of the Locust Grove Baptist church, located two miles east of Greenford,
was ordained at a special meeting
Tuesday evening at the church.

The council for the ordination
met in the afternoon. Rev. A. C.
Westphal, of the Salem church,
served as examiner and moderator.

Rev. Howard Perry, of Alliance, preached the ordination service and
Rev. William Bridge, Canton, gave the charge. Thirty from the Salem
church attended.

Law Enforcement Forms Plank In Ohio Democratic Platform

Cooper Administration Attacked By Party Leaders
In Meeting At Columbus; Prohibition No
Issue; Campaign In Full Swing

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Ohio
Democrats put their campaign for the November election into full swing with a platform pledging impartial enforcement of all laws and denouncing the Republican state
and national administrations.

While containing no reference to prohibition, the platform, adopted
unanimously at the state convention here yesterday, recognized the right of citizens to work for the repeal of any law and advocated a constitutional amendment providing
that any change in the constitution shall be subject to a referendum instead of being ratified by state legislatures.

After approving the platform, the delegates applauded addresses by their wet candidate for United States senator, Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland, and their dry candidate
for governor, George White of Marietta, both of whom promised unqualified support of the state ticket.

Bulkley, however, expressed regret that the party did not go on record as favoring repeal of national prohibition, adding that he was certain that such action eventually would be taken. Meanwhile
he said he would continue personally to advocate repeal as he did
in the primary campaign.

Addresses endorsing the party's standard-bearers also were delivered by the defeated primary candidates. The only discordant note
was sounded by Charles Hubbell,

U. S. Mail Service History Discussed

Growth of the railway mail service from its earliest stages to the present day was discussed by Cant.
E. J. Mansfield of Pittsburgh at the Retary club meeting Tuesday noon.

Mansfield, chief mail clerk of this division in the railway mail service,
discussed post office deliveries from
its earliest stages to the period of pony express service to the modern
system involving delivery of mail
and parcel post by airplane.

He explained changes in costs of delivery and cited examples, showing that in the earliest days of the post office a charge of more than $7 would be made for mailing a magazine from this city to Columbus.

He was introduced by Frank J.
Eckstein, postmaster here.

Accident Victims Reported Better

Mrs. Howard Groner and son, Frederick of Columbiana, who were
in an automobile accident late Monday afternoon near this city, and have been in the Salem City hospital for treatment left the institution this morning and went to the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Derr East Fifth street.

Mrs. Anna Groner and daughter, Miss Mary, of Columbiana, who
were injured in the same accident,
are still at the hospital. They are reported to be getting along well.

LA FOLLETTE APPEARS CHOICE OF PARTY IN WISCONSIN PRIMARIES

Massachusetts Governor
Again Finds Favor Of
Republicans

(By Associated Press)

Out of the welter of yesterday's
primary voting in three states
Philip F. LaFollette appeared today
the Republican nominee for governor of Wisconsin and William M.
Butler of Massachusetts was the likely choice of the Republicans of his state for the senate.

Governor Frank G. Allen was renominated by the Massachusetts
Republicans.

LaFollette Is Elected

LaFollette, brother of Robert M.
LaFollette, had a steadily widening
lead for the nomination over Governor Walter J. Kohler, and appeared to have wrested control of the party in the state from the conservative element which the latter represented. Supporters of Kohler conceded defeat.

Butler, former chairman of the Republican national committee had
a much smaller but steadily growing margin over Eben S. Draper,
his wet opponent in the contest for
the seat now held by the Republican senator Frederick H. Gillett.

Marcus A. Coolidge, of Pittsburg,
led Joseph F. O'Connell of Boston
for the Democratic nomination to the same office. Three other candidates in the race had dropped far behind. Both leading contestants are wets.

Governor Allen's Democratic opponent will be Joseph B. Ely, of West field, whose nomination for the governorship was conceded by former Mayor John J. Fitzgerald of Boston, his nearest opponent.

Wet Is Winner

New York state's primaries, in which national interest was limited
to nominations for the house, showed the defeat of Representative S.
Wallace Dempsey, Republican, of Lockport, veteran chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee. His successful opponent, Gresham Andrews, favored dry law repeal.

Representative Ruth Baker Pratt
was given the Republican renomination in the "silk stocking" 16th
district. Uspets did not appear likely in the other races.

A convention of Delaware Democrats yesterday chose former Senator Thomas F. Bayard, a wet, as their candidate for the seat held

by the Republican Senator Daniel O. Hastings. The latter, a dry has his party's nomination to succeed
himself. A plank advocating repeal of the 18th amendment went into the Democratic state platform.

Lieutenant Governor Ernest E.
Rogers was the dry choice of the Connecticut Republican convention.
The Democratic candidate is Dr.
Wilbur L. Cross, dean emeritus of Yale university graduate school, who is a wet. The Republican platform
called for restoration of liquor control to the states while the Democrats advocated repeal of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act.

OFFICIALS SHOW SCHOOL COSTS IN OHIO CITIES

Salem Compared To Other Towns Of Size And To Larger Cities

(This is one of a series of articles
contributed by school authorities
dealing with the proposed bond issue
for a new high school building.)

One of the questions many persons will ask when considering how to vote on the bond issue for a new high school building is "What is our indebtedness compared with
that of other school districts?"

The fairest way to consider the matter is by comparing the bonded indebtedness per pupil.

The following statistics are from
some compiled by the state department of education in the fall of 1929.

The originals may be seen at the office of the board of education.
Following is a list of cities their enrollment and indebtedness per pupil:

COSTE, BELLONTE PAY TRIBUTE TO MYRON HERRICK

Daring French Aviators
Only Greeted By Clevelanders

(By International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—Leaving
a wreath on the grave of the late ambassador to France, Myron T.
Herrick and with a whirlwind reception on their memories, Maj.
Claude Bellonte and Lieut. Maurice Bellonte, pilot and co-pilot of
the daring and epochal non-stop flight from Paris to New York, were
to hop off from Cleveland airport
for Detroit today to continue their triumph tour of the nation.

Fly Over Ohio

The route of the French fliers today carries them over Akron, Columbus, Dayton, and Toledo in Ohio. They were to stop in Indianapolis for lunch.

The fated French fliers arrived here at five p. m., yesterday. They were two hours late, having been delayed in their flight from Boston
by unfavorable weather.

A rainsoaked crowd of nearly 5-000 persons was on hand at the airport to greet the Frenchmen,
who were immediately whirled to
city hall downtown to receive an official welcome.

Automobiles then took the fliers
and the reception committee in a swift parade up Euclid avenue and out to Lake View cemetery. Thousands of Clevelanders lined the curbs, cheering lustily.

Place Wreath On Grave

At the cemetery, Maj. Coste and Lieut. Bellonte reversed their roles
and stood silently before the grave
of Ambassador Herrick. The ceremony was simple and impressive as
the two Frenchmen placed a wreath
on the grave. Among the witnesses were Parnely Herrick, son of the ambassador, and Mrs. Herrick.

A rousing ovation was accorded
at a public banquet in their honor
last night. Maj. Coste replied to the reception in French, thanking
the city for its welcome and speaking of Mr. Herrick's service to France.

Each of the fliers was presented
with a silver plaque at the banquet
as a permanent memento of their visit here.

Among those who joined hands
with the French aviators across the speaker's table last night was Lieut.
Albert F. Hegeberger, who with Lieut. Lester J. Maitland made the first flight over the Pacific ocean
from San Francisco to Honolulu in June 1927.

School Session To Feature Institute

A school session will be a new feature of the Salem Independent

ing with the institute committee
in this school session.

It is planned to invite high school
students from surrounding towns
to attend. Mary Cartwright, of the state department of public health,
will be the speaker.

Funds Lacking For New
Downtown Traffic
Lights

The new traffic code which places
before Salem motorists a modern
set of regulations governing vehicular
and pedestrian traffic on Salem
streets, was placed in effect here today.

The code, approved by members
of city council following a survey conducted by a special committee
for more than four months, provides
for a revision of all traffic laws
here and will be rigidly enforced, according to an announcement issued
by Mayor J. M. Davidson this morning.

A conference was held in the mayor's office this morning, attended by Davidson, City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott, Police Chief T. W.
Thompson and Patrolman Ralph Stoffer, following which the mayor
issued the statement that steps will be taken by the police department
for immediate enforcement of the new code.

To Enforce New Laws
Revision of various passages in the ordinance and delays caused in making of duplicate copies for members of council prevented the effectiveness of the measure previous to today, the solicitor stated. The ordinance pertaining to the code
was passed by council at its meeting
on August 19.

At the meeting of council Tuesday night short discussions were held concerning present traffic conditions here during which Safety Director John R. Kerr announced that his department is making
progress in the installation of safety
"stop" signs at various street intersections but was unable to state
when new traffic signal lights for
the downtown intersections will be purchased. He stated that due to

BON VOYAGE

The announcement Tuesday afternoon that Alfred P. Dennis, Democrat and vice-chairman of the tariff commission which ended its term yesterday, and Edgar B. Brossard, Republican and chairman of the same commission, would serve on the reorganized commission marks the virtual completion of that important body's personnel.

Appointment of a sixth member will be made in the near future when President Hoover is able to find someone willing to serve. Members of the commission whose appointments were made previously are: Henry P. Fletcher, Republican; Thomas Walker Page, Democrat; John Lee Coulter, Republican. The sixth member will be, of necessity, a Democrat.

It is likely that he will be from west of the Mississippi river, it being the President's obvious intention to make the commission geographically representative.

The duty of the reorganized commission is unparalleled in the history of tariff commission work. It will attempt to correct the inequities which the administration admits are existent in the Smoot-Hawley act. Stripped of all verbiage, its job will be to determine how much revenue all articles imported in the last three years would have yielded had the ad valorem rates of the Smoot-Hawley act been effective and what scale of import duties would have yielded the same revenue had they been assessed on the American rather than the foreign valuation of these products.

To the layman that is, very apparently, a different task; to the tariff student, who is able to estimate it more nearly, it may seem an impossible task.

When the Smoot-Hawley act was pending and when it was passed there was much hopeful talk of amending it through the action of the tariff commission until it became more generally acceptable.

It is unnecessary to point out what amending it will mean.

Where rates are high there are interests prepared to fight for them; where they are low there are other interests to fight for them. Greater even than the discouragement of the immediate prospect, however, is the futility of wasting months of time on the passage of a bill which, when it becomes an act, is immediately laid open to revisions that should have been apparent in the first place. Whether the tariff commission actually makes any changes or not, its charged function is a reflection on the ability of congress to enact tariff legislation.

It is bon voyage that the public wishes the individual tariff commissioners who have undertaken such a tremendous task, but it is only a foreboding shake of the head that the sight of their craft and its itinerant arouses.

Only brave men attempt to sail between Scylla and Charybdis.

IN COLD STORAGE

Detroit has a very strong claim to the title of the nation's most unsettled city at the present moment. Politically and socially, matters there are in a state of violent ferment—and no jest intended.

Mayor-elect Frank Murphy, who showed a surprising and winning strength at the polls a few days ago when Detroit decided who would succeed Mayor Charles Bowles, ignominiously deposed, was an unwitting victim of the hectic state of affairs when he prepared to take office Monday afternoon.

While 4,000 people waited at City hall to witness the inauguration ceremonies, Mayor Bowles staved off his own inevitable exit by a petition for a recount of the votes, which will take two weeks. Baskets of flowers, which had been sent to the mayor-elect by his well-wishers, were placed in cold storage pending the next inauguration.

It's a good idea—about the flowers. The way things have been going along in Detroit lately it might be a good idea to cool off some more things in the city—just for a few weeks, of course, until things settled down a little bit.

What Others Say

A FRESH QUEST FOR DRY FACTS

The determination of Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock, United States director of prohibition, to have his bureau gather its own statistical information as to the progress and results of prohibition enforcement entirely from disinterested sources deserves hearty applause. It will meet a long-felt want. For years there has been need of a thorough survey of the liquor question by some agency which the voter who still is on the fence might accept as unbiased and authentic.

It may be too much to hope that the findings of the federal bureau will be accepted by extreme wets if the findings are dry, or by the extreme dries if the findings are wet. But whatever the findings may be, the evident sincerity of Mr. Woodcock's purpose bespeaks confidence in their soundness. Persons acquainted with the work of the Scientific Temperance Foundation, the World League Against Alcoholism, the Alcohol Information committee and other similar organizations convinced that their researches are carried out with as complete insistence upon academic veracity as one could wish. Nevertheless, there will be great value in a new and unpartisan investigation of the same subject matter from a fresh beginning. There is every reason to believe that honest, independent investigation will corroborate and substantiate in great measure the claims made for prohibition by its adherents.

If these studies bring out important criticisms of the working of prohibition, none should be more grateful than the prohibitionists. If there are faults to be remedied, let them be known that they may be remedied.

If prohibition, as a system, is as unworkable as its opponents declare, establishment of that point by this investigation will prove helpful in the long run. What prohibitionists want is a system that, while aiming at the elimination of the liquor traffic, will effectively control it. If the operation of the Volstead act is not achieving that end, dries want to know about it in order to put their weight behind a plan that will. Evils are destroyed not by ignoring them but by facing them.

But until far stronger evidence is adduced against prohibition than has thus far appeared, millions of its supporters throughout the United States will demand its continuance, and will attest their faith in it by indorsing such projects for earnest and dispassionate investigation of its results as that set forth by Mr. Woodcock—Christian Science Monitor.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, September 18

Fairly interesting planetary conditions are noted in operation on this day. New plans and ventures should succeed and fresh agreements or contracts are in order, with promise of advancement or safe negotiations with employers or those in places of authority.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a fairly active and successful year, with new plans and projects advancing and with assistance of employers or of large corporations or secret societies. Direct methods as well as measures of diplomacy or strategy should flourish. A child born on this day should be lively, gifted, enterprising and aggressive and should reach good station in business, employment, literary pursuits or diplomacy.

NEW YORK
Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Sentiment alone is an emotion flinty Manhattan is reputed to lack—will save "The Little Church Around the Corner" from the voraciousness of the building destroyers. Although it has stood in mellow glory 82 years, greedy skyscraper promoters are after the site.

Already a dollar-a-head alumni fund is being raised to preserve the sanctuary. I turned out of the boiling avenue bit-bib yesterday and in a few steps reached this eminently haven of amazing tranquility. A cloud of white pigeons wheeled above the cross. The millioned windows glistened rainbow serenity.

Its actual name is the Church of the Transfiguration, but Joseph Jefferson, the actor, bestowed the title by which it is known. George Holland a kindly actor was refused burial service at a neighboring church. Jefferson was told: "The little church around the corner will do it."

In his grief he choked: "Then God bless this little church around the corner." O. Henry's last rites were spoken there. It is one of the most popular marrying places in all the city, the sidewalk being constantly sprinkled with rice and the gutter with a hurried good luck slipper or so.

In springtime its front garden, slit with cool brick walks, is bright with the verve of fragrant jonquils. Inside is an ecclesiastical "Green Room" for actors. The pew of Les Wallack is preserved. Its pastor for nine years has been Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray, from Dallas, Texas, a humanitarian unshackled by ecclesiasticism.

During unemployment crisis, Dr. Ray fed a breadline at his gates that totaled 75,000 storm-tossed souls. He frequently turns away impulsive elopers and sends them back to parental roofs. The services are usually attended by a sprinkling of stage and screen personalities.

As a fairly obliging cicerone for out-of-town friends I find "The Little Church" is almost invariably among the first three places total strangers to see—the other two being the Broadway lights and Central park. It will be a pity if the church has to go.

He was a contented white wing, whirling along with his perambulating cart in the evening hush. A

Towanda, Pa.—"I was working in a silk mill and got so tired and rundown that I weighed only 80 pounds. I was not well enough to do my work. As soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to pick up. After being married for thirteen years, I had a baby boy and the next year I had another boy who now weighs 37 pounds and is healthy as a bear. The Vegetable Compound has helped me in a dozen ways and I hope others will try it too."

discarded gutter bundle caught his eye and he averted to the curb. Unwinding the string displayed a bunch of withered flowers. He held them to his nose, glanced at me a little sheepishly and exclaimed: "Them's mine—bunch with a perfume." And I'm the sort of sofie who went on with a queer twist in my throat.

Tiffany's seems the only signified store left on the avenue. Its only distinguishing marks are the small brass numbers 499 over the door. Window exhibits are usually a dull bronze on a lack of sombre push. Its gorman resembles a courtly giant of other days. Yet the dignity has paid. It is one of the most highly profitable jewelry establishments in the land.

I know a gentleman, the unctuous racial, who always rides quickly to the floor he desires in skyscraper elevators—and alone. When a car reaches the ground floor and ejects passengers, he whispers to the starter: "I'm nauseated. Please tell the operator to push me to—" Rapping the floor desired. It never fails to click and we hope some day they make him prove his assertion right there before all the people.

R. R. F. writes in to inquire what I think of H. L. Mencken's Pan-America policy. The back of my neck to him. He can tell him himself. It is about the 34th variation of that one. There is no fun pan-America Mencken anyway. He takes it too graciously.

At 23rd street and Park avenue at 7:15 last night by a sturdy Carter wrist watch, a lady with a Gay Ninety pug dog, even to the red ribbon neck bow went ambling by. The dog waddled with fat wheezed from asthma, had bulbous eyes and a tightly twisted corkscrew tail. I rushed into a nearby apartment house-dragged Courtney Ryley Cooper out to see, but it was gone. Policemen at three adjacent corners said they had not seen it. It wouldn't surprise me if I am not even in New York.

If anyone, however, seriously doubts I did not see that pug dog I will gladly furnish the badge numbers of the policemen I questioned, my reason for being in the neighborhood at that particular time and a cork on the jaw.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Childhood Malnutrition Serious

Health comes first of all in importance. The child who has a good start in life has an immense advantage over those who have been handicapped by ill health.

I wish every kiddie could be well nourished and possessed of good health. So many children go about listlessly, behind in their school work and burdened more than they should be by long hours of study and home work. How about your child? Does he seem tired, pale and irritable?

There is a real reason back of all this. The question of underweight centers about a good many contributing factors. Perhaps the first thing to consider is whether the child has any physical defects. It is well to have your doctor look him over and give his opinion on the subject.

Sometimes a child with defective eyesight or poor hearing will develop a serious physical condition. Very often a nervous, high-strung child who is behind in his school work will be found to have quite serious eyestrain. If allowed to go on malnutrition and underweight might follow.

In the case of adenoids of diseased tonsils poisons are carried by the blood stream to all parts of the body. Such a condition should be attended to at the earliest possible moment. If the child seems to be underweight from this sort of thing, it may be that the slight operation needed will bring him back to normal health.

It may be that your child is not getting the proper nourishment. Every child until he becomes of adult age should have at least a quart of milk every day, taken as a drink, or in his cooked food and with cereals. Milk should be the foundation of every child's diet, and nothing but the very best milk is good enough for your child.

A growing child should have fresh fruits and vegetables. These furnish those wonderful vitamins, minerals and other substances which promote growth and energy.

Every mother has a real task before her in looking after her growing boy and girl. She must be careful about their food and how they eat it, their sleep, their everyday fresh air and sunshine and good-natured knows how many other things.

The hours of eating, rest and sleep should be on schedule time for the growing child, and kept up through adolescence. They may vary somewhat with the age of the child, but regularity should always be to the fore.

One doctor said to a mother of a ten-year-old underweight child, "If you will see that your child gets eleven hours out-of-doors, and three good simple meals a day including a quart of milk, I can guarantee an increase in weight and improvement in his school work."

A child who is underweight must not be scolded. He should be encouraged gently, but firmly in the right living habits. When his day has been reorganized and he has had time to build up his strength and ambition, it will be worth all the time and worry you have put into it to see him well and stronger again. Then when good habits have been formed, they should be kept up diligently for all his growing years.

Strong Grid Machine Formed By Stone For McKinley Battle

THE DAY In Sports

TRIBUTE TO THE SCRUB FIFTY REPORT FOR TEAM

Out of about 50 candidates reporting regularly to workouts conducted by Coaches Floyd Stone and Franklin Lewis, about 15 will be awarded varsity letters at the close of the present football season. The remaining group by the time the season ends there won't be more than 25 left--will have been the aggregation of youngsters which do so much towards developing a good football team, the scrubs that furnish better practice than a tackling dummy and are used similarly.

Last year Salem fans did something few critics in the United States ever have done. They purchased good football for lettermen. Then, after that, honor was paid to the lowly scrub, silver trophies were given to more than 20 reserve grid-ders.

Scrubs are peculiar fellows. Many of them glory in the contacts they obtain with members of the first team but in turn are practically spurned by the self-styled stars. They're thick-skinned. Irritating remarks affect them little and they go on, battling with backs in the mud and cleats in their faces. When the senior year rolls around, they too get their chance to star and inevitably make good.

Here's the complete list of lads out for Stone's team:

Paul Sartick, August Corso, Henry Reese, Bill Smith, Wilber Webber, Lawrence Weigand, Hugh Bailey, Gene Yarwood, George Ballantine, Harold Hackett, Ed Beck, Mert Whitcomb, Mike Corso.

Charles Slack, Norm Early, Johnny French, Jack Carpenter, Dan Alexander, John Barnes, Bill Miller, Bill Corso, Gordy Keyes, Perne Sidinger, Jim Corso, Loren Battin, Judy Julian.

Richard Paxson, Lawrence Kercher, Albert Konnerth, Adam Pukalski, Gordy Scullion, Russell Thomas, Jack Sheehan, Albert Fisher, Robert Holdrieth, Raymond Moff, Lerin Pim.

Erwin Beck, July Hippley, Don Greenlee, Wayne Sidinger, Paul Baltimore, Karl Kermit, Raymond Sprowl, Troy Cope, Darrow Beck, Mutt Mullett, Jim Ressler, Jim Fasco, Dutch Jacobson and Melvin Moss.

One of America's greatest coaches said a season ago, "I'd sooner have a little lad of 120 pounds on my squad if he's willing to work and get the most that there is in athletics than five stars who know they're good and loaf on the job, glorifying themselves because of praise heaped down on them by fans who, a year from the day they compliment them, will refuse to lift a hand to help them out of a minor difficulty."

There's room for argument, of course. Some coaches desire victory above all and will play the best gridders regardless of his mental attitude. There are others who see what is in the game, who work for the good of players and for victory both, sacrificing the latter often for the former. Which is the better has as yet not been decided. The spirit of "victory at any cost" is argued against by many. They support their contentions with sentimental debate and arguing against sentimentalism is like trying to write on water. So the matter will probably never be settled.

The Salem doubles team composed of Tom Moore and Walter Hartsock has retained its Columbia county championship, defeating Walter Deming and Dick Harwood, 3-0, 6-3, 7-5 and 6-2 at the Country club courts.

Lack Of Veterans For Guard Positions Form Coach's Main Problem

Confronted with an unusually promising squad of grid-ders, Coach Floyd Stone is making rapid progress in the formation of a formidable aggregation to represent Salem High in its opening grid fracas of the 1930 season against Canton McKinley High at Lakeside stadium, Canton, Saturday afternoon.

A strong lineup is being selected by Stone and his assistant, Franklin Lewis, and while no regular varsity eleven has been as yet selected, pre-game indications hint strongly towards the fact that the Red and Black will place a team of unusual ability and strength into the field of scholastic competition this year.

With Bill Smith, Ed Beck and Johnny French forming a trio of veteran ball-carriers in the back-field and experienced linemen available for five of seven forward wall positions, Stone's main attention now are being directed towards the development of two youngsters suitable for guard duties while the question of what players will start at the ends, together with the appointment of a quarterback also remain to be settled in the two nights remaining prior to the inaugural encounter.

Sartick At Center

Paul Sartick appears certain to start at center with Mert Whitcomb, Lawrence Weigand and Wilber Wenner heading the list of candidates for the guards. On the tackles the Corso brothers, two of them, that is, August and Michael, are favored at present, with the choice at ends lying between Norman Early, Harold Hackett, Hugh Bailey and Charles Slack. Slack and Hackett are both newcomers to Salem High, the former coming here from Montana while Hackett had experience at an end at Huntington, W. Va., High.

Despite his presumed eligibility after Webber passed the re-examination given him last week, doubt still lingers over whether he will be permitted to play this season. In order to ascertain the state ruling on the matter and avoid later complexities and possibilities of losing a game by forfeit, W. J. Springer, principal, has written to J. R. Townsend, Ohio's high commissioner of athletics at Columbus. The veteran has been stationed as a guard on the second team, meanwhile, pending the receipt of a ruling from Townsend.

Weigand and Whitcomb have been given first team places as guard in majority of this week's workouts. Early and Hackett work at ends during most of the sessions.

HEADLINES From the Sidelines

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 17.—Out on the restless, sobbing bosom of the Atlantic today, the Shamrock V will try once again to prove that the money and time and care and attention that Sir Thomas Lipton, old man of the sea, has given it has not been in vain. Out there where the elements are in charge and men's lives are only a puffing and in a seething, bubbling, boiling pot, the challenger will race the Enterprise, twice an impressive winner, in the third race for America's cup and, according to overnight advice, the challenger now has a chance where once it had none.

First of all, weather forecasters spoke for a "blow," meaning that the sea would cut its didoes where before it lay brooding and calm for all the world like a glass of water. This was no more than a negative advantage to the Shamrock. It meant that, since the Lipton entry had been beaten off thoroughly in so-called light airs, it might conceivably have a chance in winds that were brisk and robust. In effect, that with a boat that could lose very promptly under a certain set of conditions it was barely possible that it might win under another.

Today's race was to be either 15 miles to windward or leeward and return and here, too, a possible break for the Shamrock was indicated. It was not the kind of a break that necessarily meant success-in-the-face-of-impending-failure, strictly in the Horatio Alger manner. It simply meant that of two defeats, the one sustained over today's course had been the less disastrous.

However the Lipton outfit proved overnight that it was not above assisting the machinations of destiny. It spent the interval following yesterday's postponement, due to rain, low visibility and breathless ocean, in trying to determine just what was the matter with the Shamrock and, while naturally it had no hope of reaching a definite and comprehensive decision between the setting of one sun and the rising of another, it stood to reason that any decision it made was to be for the best. Consequently it shifted some of its hallast forward in order to Shamrock's nose, this evidently being one of the things the Shamrock has not been able to do for itself. In fact its nose has been lower than the apex of a fallen arch through the series.

This move, by the way may not be without significance since the Enterprise did much the same thing, to its ultimate satisfaction, after it had been beaten several times in elimination trials. Shamrock, of course, was unable to determine in advance whether such a move expedient, first, because it had no trial races and second, because it had to be constructed in order to weather a crossing of the Atlantic.

What The Stars Did Yesterday

(By Associated Press)

TAYLOR DOUTHITT, Cardinals—Singled in tenth to drive in run that beat Robins, 1-0.

KARL HUBBELL, Giants—Struck out ten, and blanked them, 7-0.

CHUCK KLEIN, Phillies—Drove in four runs against Pirates, with two singles and 34th home run.

LEFTY GROVE and BILL SHORES, Athletics—Pitched champions to double victory over White Sox.

DALE ALEXANDER, Tigers—Pair of singles drove in four runs against Red Sox.

Slack performing against them with the reserves while Bailey is still on the casualty list with a twisted ankle.

Reese At Quarter

Henry Reese, fast-stepping but exceedingly light back, seems destined to start at the fourth back-field position. Reese is a good open field runner and as a safety man is showing much development. He will probably be stationed at quarter-back to handle the ball coming back from center with Smith and Beck at halves and French at full-back. Sartick will call signals from center.

Gene Yarwood, Jack Carpenter, Dan Alexander, Gordy Scullion and Albert Konnerth are reserve back-field men.

This combination of Reese, Smith, French and Beck appeared one of the classiest to work together for Stone in his reign here. The lack of a quarterback to diagnose plays from a back offensive position and a dependable passer is extremely noticeable, however. Where in past years Stone's lads always packed a perilous forward pass attack, the team this year appears to be doomed to depend almost entirely on a running offensive.

Reese, Smith and Beck are fair open field runners with Beck and Smith topping the list, being of the easy-going, shifty variety with swivel hips that make would-be tacklers grab them at shootouts for a successful tackle. French is a smashing line-plunger who last year, during his freshman term, played havoc with opposing defensive walls.

Guard Question Serious

The strength of the guards is a matter of question as yet, both Whitcomb and Weigand being of untried caliber. There is no doubt that both will be in their first baptism of fire Saturday and what the team's chances of completing another undefeated record for a season are this year, will probably be decided after the McKinley conflict. The Corsos form a formidable pair of tackles while Sartick is a great defensive player.

Early is several times the end he was last year, showing a greater willingness to expel surplus energy, so the choice for the second end seems to lie between Bailey, Slack and Hackett. Of this trio Hackett is the best blocker, Bailey probably the deadliest tackler while Slack can snare passes as good as any.

The team made its third change in practice fields Monday night and worked out on the field formerly used as the gridiron for the E. H. Althouse-Brown Studbaker team.

Hunting Season Here

Monday marked the opening of hunting season in Ohio with squirrel on the open list. Tuesday was the let-down of the barriers of the federal migratory bird act, which is included in a treaty with Canada, and duck hunting.

Squirrel, of course, drew the hunters to hundreds, where duck drew them to one, but there are some summer nesters in Ohio that are going to present targets to scatterguns of the buckeye Nimrods.

The duck situation is critical this year and if the resolution of the International Association of Fish and Game commissioners, made in Toronto at a recent meeting, is adopted there will be a shorter season on ducks this year.

The resolution has been sent to the United States department of agriculture and to the Canadian game and fisheries department.

A survey of the nesting grounds in Canada, where 85 per cent of the ducks are raised, showed that the hatch this year is only 50 per cent of normal. This is due to a shortage of water from the drought this summer, according to provincial game commissioners.

The hazards are not past either as the shortage of water to the southward has caused a serious condition. Even normal or excessive rainfall for the balance of the fall would not correct conditions as the dryness has kept aquatic vegetation, on which ducks feed, from gaining a normal growth this year. Thousands of lakes, ponds and streams have been affected and will not bloom again until next year.

Ducks which breed in the marshes on the Lake Erie shore of Ohio appear to be in abundance, although the survey I made was none too critical. They appeared to be in numbers as large as usual.

These marshes are also affected by the drought, although not to as great an extent as I had feared they would be. Farther north, where more ducks breed, I was surprised at the large number of them. Of course, this condition may be more or less localized and some northern breeding areas affected far worse than that through which I traveled. Water here was two feet below normal, but the vast swamp areas were still in good condition.

I found hunters up there in joyful anticipation of the shooting which would come with the opening of the season. Tuesday, Squirrels in Ohio appear to be nearly in normal numbers. There will no doubt be a food shortage this year as some forests were badly hit by the drought, some localities far more than others.

Beechnuts never seemed to be in better shape than they are this year, but they are not the piece de resistance of squirrels. In some Ohio localities nuts are normal, in others they are very scarce and it is highly probable that in the areas where a scarcity exists there will be more or less of a famine among squirrels this winter.

Albiss Again

I will have to blame the full moon again for bad fishing as I had a trip to a favorite northern lake and I came mighty near getting whitewashed. The week before they had been hitting in fine manner.

Frank Knill of Vermilion was on the trip and he had just returned from Rondeau, Canada, where he had exceptional luck with the big small mouth of that locality.

He growled pretty hard that we were where we were instead of at Rondeau and chided us of what we would be catching there.

We had a chicken dinner at his Vermilion home on the return trip and his wife told him that a friend had written a letter that he had caught three rock bass at Rondeau in his first two days' fishing.

Naturally Frank then came in for his turn of kidding. Frank is now a convert to the moon alibi. He adds that it is as good as any.

But, if you will pardon the old bromide, "all in fishing is not fish," we had a wonderful time. We must have had for we all parted in good terms and one of the party was a radical wet Democrat and the other a conservative dry Quaker.

Then too, we had the pleasure of seeing the first pursuit squadron of the United States air forces "strafing" targets with machine gun fire in all the earnestness of actual warfare. This latter occurred on a little field up in the "sticks" where wild bullets are not as wild as they would be at the Selfridge field base of the squadron.

Cardinals Nose Ahead In National League Battle

(By Associated Press)

St. Louis was a shade ahead in the National league race today. With the great Dazzy Vance and brilliant Bill Hallahan on the mound, St. Louis and Brooklyn battled ten innings yesterday and the Cards won 1 to 0, to take first place by a margin of a point.

The league's four contenders today stand this way:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.	Behind
St. Louis	33	60	580
Brooklyn	84	61	579
Chicago	82	62	569	1 1/2
New York	79	65	549	4 1/2

Brooklyn's winning streak of 11 games ended in perhaps the most thrilling game of the season. Dazzy Vance fanned eleven Cards and gave them only seven hits but a double by Pinch-Hitter Andy High and a single by Taylor Douthit came in the tenth with Hallahan's sacrifice in between and produced the only run of the game. The St. Louis youngster belied his nickname of Wild Bill by giving only two walks and not allowing a Robin to reach first base until the seventh inning. He allowed only five hits.

Cubs Shut Out

Carl Hubbell, Giant southpaw, gave New York a 7 to 0 victory, over the Chicago Cubs. Hubbell yielded only three hits and fanned ten.

Two teams with little in store for the future but a few chances to cause trouble for the leaders sharpened their batting eyes against each other in the other National league clash and after ten innings of slug-ging Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh, 15 to 14. A triple play, Chuck Klein's 34th home run and the nine-run tenth inning stood out from the mass of hits.

In the American league, the Philadelphia Athletics continued to move pennantward by taking a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox while their only rivals, the Washington Senators, were kept idle by rain at Cleveland. With Mose Grove earning his 27th victory of the season, the A's won the first

The annual inspection of Greenford grange will be on Oct. 7, conducted by V. E. Crouse, county deputy.

Marshal Foils Bank Robbery at Mantua

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—Marshal William Powell frustrated an attempt to rob the bank at Mantua, a village 23 miles southeast of here, early today and captured one of the three men who had smashed a window.

Powell heard the noise of the breaking glass and ran to the bank. He grappled with the three men, but was able to hold only one of them, a 23-year-old Cleveland. The other two escaped in an automobile although pursued by Powell and Portage county officials who were summoned from Ravenna.

Hunters Injured

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 17.—The hunting season went forward yesterday with five accidents resulting. Charles Sparks, 32, was slightly wounded by the accidental discharge of a gun; Victor Caudill, 17, of Pike county, was similarly wounded; Wells Ketter, Wheelersburg constable, Newton Conley, New Boston, and the latter's son-in-law were injured when their auto turned over returning from a hunting trip.

NEW DRIVE ON GANGS STARTED BY CHICAGOANS

26 "Public Enemies" Are On List For Arrests; One In Jail

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The 6,000 members of Chicago's police force today hunted the 26 "public enemies" listed by the Chicago crime commission, with Alphonse "Scarface" Capone, gangland overlord, the first on their list.

Backed by warrants issued last night by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle charging Capone and the other gang chiefs with violation of the vagrancy law, Chief of Detectives John Norton inaugurated the search. John Lyle, who made certain the warrants were returnable before him before delivering them into the hands of assistant state's attorneys, announced he would set the bond for each at $10,000.

Judge Lyle explained he was making the bond no higher in order to offset criticism which his insistence upon larger sums in recent hoodlum cases aroused.

One Man Arrested
Danny Stanton, south side hoodlum, already in a cell at the detective bureau, was the first of the 26 against whom the vagrancy warrant was issued. He is reputedly allied with the Capone forces.

Besides Capone, the list of 26 named included the name of his brother Ralph, generally regarded as his chief lieutenant; his arch-enemy, George "Bugs" Moran, who is currently reported to have been displaced as north side gang czar by the Capone forces; and other lesser lights of gangdom's ruling set.

Tony Volpe, reputed chief gunner for the mob monarch, Jack Guzik, business manager of the Capone syndicate; Frank Rio, who was Capone's companion in a jail at Philadelphia for a year for carrying concealed weapons; Frank Diamond, Capone lieutenant; Joseph Genero and George (Red) Barker, Capone allies, were among those named.

Fist Fight Ends In Death Of Boy

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Such a trivial thing as whether Michael Kryewsky, 15 years old, was out at second base in a schoolboys' ball game led to the death of Joseph Czarnetzky yesterday.

The two boys fought with fists to settle the dispute. Czarnetzky fell and was pronounced dead.

An inquest has been ordered.

Chief Justice Named

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—At the annual meeting of judges of the appellate courts of Ohio here yesterday, Judge Francis M. Hamilton of Lebanon, was elected chief justice for 1931. Louis B. Houck, of Vernon, was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

him to the little church opposite the house in Colone in which his father and mother lived, has a value not to be computed in dollars.

TED GEISLING, held in Louisville, Ky., suspected of murdering Jake Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, says he didn't kill him; didn't know him, never saw him, and added: "except helping a jail break at Rising Sun, Ind., they haven't got a thing on me."

This interesting product of modern civilization adds casually: "I have been in the liquor-running and hi-jacking racket for almost two years, but I didn't hang out with Chicago gangs, didn't know Lingle, nor Zuta, nor any of that outfit."

About Lingle, the gangster very probably tells the truth. Whoever shot the Tribune reporter had probably never seen him, and asked no questions. For a few papers of cocaine and five hundred dollars, you can buy the murder of anybody, "put on the spot."

AS FOR THE SUPPLY of drugs, that will run short, under the present system. Detectives arrested an assistant baggage master on the big liner Europa yesterday, as he came off the ship carrying $20,000 worth of morphine.

SIX RUSSIAN officials were suspected of "counter revolutionary" picture of the crucifixion of St. Peter, head downwards, given by activities. When fire started in big government buildings, pretending to put the fire out they encouraged it. A laconic official announcement says three of them have been shot, three sent to prison for long terms. Russia believes in thoroughness.

Shadow Presentation Of Stories Enjoyed

A large crowd of children, which filled the children's room of the public library and the stairs leading down into it, applauded the charming Cinderella, well known favorite of fairy tales, as she took on "real life" at the marionette performance Tuesday afternoon.

The marionettes performed behind a colorful and decoratively lighted stage; their silhouettes depicting the cruel stepisters the gallant prince and the fairy godmother. Phonograph music provided the orchestra selections necessary to make the dramatic points of the production more effective. Miss Alice Hecker, art instructor, created the dolls as well as the stage and scenery used in the play. She was assisted by Miss Freda Headley in manipulating the dolls. Another performance will be given tonight at 7:30 for adults and children. A new seating arrangement has been completed to prevent the overcrowding which was present Tuesday.

Home Raided

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 17.—Prohibition agents yesterday raided the home of Deputy Sheriff Lew Turner and reported finding a small still.

Easy to look at

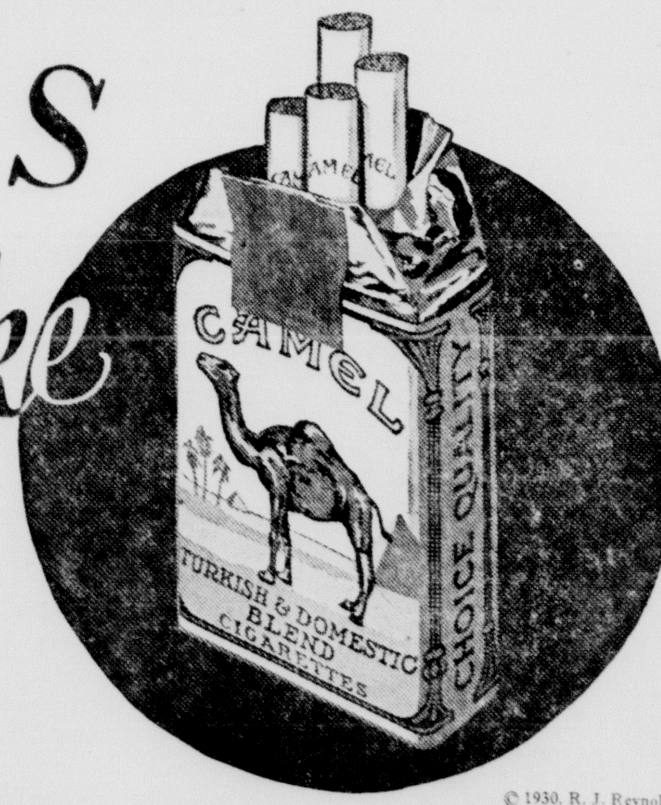

THERE'S a harmony between the natural loveliness of this modern age and the natural, mild goodness of Camels. And if you find them keeping company, don't be surprised.

Camel has given the world the luxury of a naturally mild cigarette—a cigarette that preserves all the refreshing fragrance of the choice, mild tobaccos from which it is made—a cigarette that is delightfully smooth, but never flat, never parched, never tasteless.

Modern smokers are awake to the fact that mere flatness doesn't mean mildness. That's one reason there's such a swing to Camels. Watch it right in your own crowd. Join them in Camels—a smoke that's enjoyable all the way—all the time.

ed into townships, the name of the township appearing in the center of each panel display. Some very clever work handwork is included. Children have again gained much favor in the 4-H club work exhibits. Girls have exhibited dresses and other garments and also canned fruit and vegetables while the boys have shown what they can do in the raising of livestock such as calves, sheep, hogs and poultry. The Columbiana county board of health has a clever exhibit in which is featured a replica of the Gaimore summer camp. The Farm bureau has also an interesting display while the Columbiana County Horticultural society has over 100 panels of apples in its display. These numerous trawls have been entered in competition by county growers. The size variety and grade of the fruit displayed is mute evidence of what is being grown in the commercial orchardists in this county.

Brick on Display
For the first time in the history of the county fair, there has been arranged an exhibit of enameled brick. This is by the Globe Brick Co. of Kentland, W. Va.

Three county granges are competing this season and not until early this morning was the last work done on these exhibits. Both men and women labored throughout Tuesday and into the night on these displays which are attracting wide attention.

Races started at 1 o'clock this afternoon with Harry L. Carpenter of Bellefontaine as starter. B. B. Linger of Youngstown is the presiding judge and J. S. Forbes of Grove City, Pa. official timer. His assistants are H. B. Mitchell and H. R. Gilmore of Emelton, Pa. and Ralph O. Rogers, of Lisbon, clerk of the course. Between the different heats the wild west rodeo features were presented, there being 26 acts carded.

CITY OFFICIALS PLAN DRIVE TO ENFORCE CODE

Mayor, Police Chief Hold Conference With Scott, Stoffer On Laws

the present lack of funds, no action has been taken towards the purchase of the lights.

It appeared probable that the lights will not be purchased or installed until next year. At today's conference Mayor Davidson emphasized importance of observance by motorists of special laws which are introduced in the new code. Some of them are:

A pedestrian crossing a roadway where traffic is governed by control signals shall have the right of way over all vehicles including those making turns if he cross while the lights show the "green" or "go" signal. It shall be unlawful for the operator of any vehicle to fail to yield the right of way to any such pedestrian.

Hitch-Hiking Illegal
It is unlawful for any person to stand on the sidewalk or side of the road for the purpose of soliciting a ride from the operator of a vehicle. It is unlawful for any person to ride on any portion of a vehicle which is not designed for use of passengers while the machine is in motion.

No vehicle may be parked on East State from North and South Lincoln and on South Broadway, between East State and East Pershing for longer than one hour between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. except on Sundays and holidays.

A vehicle is permitted to park no longer than 15 minutes in front of the postoffice building. Parking Prohibited
Parking is prohibited on East State or Broadway between 3 and 6 a. m. All night parking is prohibited.

No U-turns are permitted in the downtown business district. It is unlawful for any driver to proceed at such a slow speed as to impede progress of traffic. (Special streets is placed on this by council the city patrolmen being delegated to enforce the ruling rigidly.)

Pedestrians crossing the street in the business district or crossing any main thoroughfare shall do so only at crosswalks or at regular intersections. Walking diagonally across streets is not permitted.

Watchman Wounded By Night Prowler

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—A prowler at the Roehl Brothers Paving company shot and critically wounded William Graham, 57, watchman, today. Graham was shot in the right side during a hand-to-hand struggle which followed when the watchman came upon the prowler, who had placed a handkerchief over his face and drawn a gun.

DULL TRADING MARKS DAY IN STOCK MARKET

Tickers Silent At Times; United Steel Shows Slight Gains

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The stock market moved narrowly in dull trading during the morning session today.

Prices maintained a firm tone, but the list lacked feature. Shorts were as reticent to extend their commitments as were longs to take stock and hence the trading slumped to such extent that tickers stood idle for minutes at a time around noon.

U. S. Steel quickly made up an initial loss of 1/2 point and held above the previous close. Other leaders held small gains with American Can around noon at 130 3/4, up 1; Johns-Manville 90 1/4, unchanged; Vanadium 88, up 1/2; American Telephone 216, up 1/2; And General Electric 72 1/2, up 1/2. Auburn Auto, American & Foreign Power, J. I. Case, Stone & Webster and Eastman Kodak made gains of a point or more. Dunhill International, one of yesterday's weak spots, rallied nearly a point. Griggs-Chunka, another selling target yesterday when it broke to a new low for the present, shares held around the previous close in lighter trading. Real Silk Hosiery, depressed yesterday by a bear group on the excuse of a break in the silk market, declined nearly 2 points to 43 1/2.

WHY BE OLD AT FORTY?

The Joys of Life Can Still Be Yours for Years

When you begin to lose your energy, when your strength begins to fail, that is when you miss a lot of the pleasures of life.

Nerves and nervous disorders caused by overwork or other excesses are the reason of most of the conditions that make you feel run down, tired, ambitionless.

"Nervotabs" are made to correct that condition quickly; they are not animal glands but they will make you feel young and full of pep and vitality, as you did in your youth.

The regular price of "Nervotabs" the world over is a dollar and a quarter but to introduce this marvelous, snappy remedy to the people who need it most, we will send post-paid, a full size box of D. P. Nervotabs, (20 day treatment) under plain wrapper, on receipt of check, money order for $1.00 or a dollar bill in envelope with your name and address. D. P. Salem Connected In Long Distance Loop

A long distance telephone cable loop, which circulates Ohio and the facilities of which are available to Salem telephone users, has just been completed. H. M. Huffman, commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone company, said that the telephone lines from Salem connect with the cable in a branch leading from Cuyahoga Falls to Youngstown.

This cable loop starts in Cleveland, goes west to Toledo, south from Toledo past Sidney to Dayton, east from Dayton through Columbus to Cambridge and north from Cambridge to Cleveland. Among the other large communities along the route are Findlay, Springfield, Newark, Newcomerstown, Massillon and Akron. Branch cables lead off to Fremont, Lima, Delaware, Zanesville, Canal Winchester, Circleville, Lancaster, Ravenna, Niles and Youngstown.

The past just finished, thus completing the loop, lies between Findlay and Dayton. On the south, the loop connects with the Pittsburgh-St. Louis cable and on the north with the New York-Chicago cable.

RELIABLE USED CARS

It Pays to go to the Buick Dealer

Two used cars may look much the same from the outside. Mileage, model, tires and general appearance may be all about alike.

Yet there may be a great deal of difference nevertheless—a difference in mechanical condition which soon will show up in actual driving.

You have only the word of the dealer to go by.

That's why it pays to go to the Buick dealer. You can rely on what he says. And you may be sure his price is fair.

THE BUYER AND SELLER MEET AT A PROFIT

BOB ATCHISON

In 1919 I sold a residence property for $2200. In 1921 it resold for $3500 and the present owner occupies it for a home and is entirely satisfied.

In 1923 I sold another property for $6500. The buyer remodeled at a cost of $3600 and resold it for $13,000—and it is not now for sale.

I could recite scores of other profitable transactions that have been made through this office.

The New Coats

Join Furs and Fabric in Lavish Beauty

$58

Elegance—the keynote of the new mode—is graciously expressed in this group of coats that we offer at this time.

They employ magnificent fabrics and choicest furs to give the becoming long, slender silhouette effect, slightly taken in at the waist—not fitted—but gently flowing in with the lines of the figure. And there are, of course, straight models for those who prefer them.

A marvelous selection of coats that you must see for yourself to appreciate.

Here Are the Furs:

Russian fitch, Russian caracul, tipped skunk, silver dyed fox, natural and fuchsia wolf, blue fox, dyed squirrel. The new fall shades and black.

GUARD WOUNDED WHEN PRISONERS ATTEMPT ESCAPE

Well Developed Plan Fails When Men Are Seen On Factory Roof

(By Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—A well laid plan for a break to freedom by nine inmates of the Maryland penitentiary was being investigated by state officials today as Arthur Owen, guard who discovered and frustrated the plot, only to be shot with his own pistol, lay in a hospital in a critical condition.

The investigations started with the questioning of one of the prisoners involved in the short lived riot.

State's Attorney Herbert O'Connor also questioned Owen, and said the guard named the prisoner who shot him. He said the rioters would be prosecuted.

Break As Shift Changes
The break started late yesterday just as the shops were being closed for the day and the guards were changing shifts.

Led by Rawlings Whittemore, brother of Richard Reese Whittemore, who was hanged in the same prison several years ago after a meteoric career in crime, ending with the slaying of a guard in an escape plot, the little band made its break across the roof of the unused foundry building close to one of the outside walls. They were seen by Owen just as they cast the grappling hooks of their rope ladder at the top of the wall—an unsuccessful cast.

Owen opened fire as he neared the group, but was struck down, relieved of his own gun and shot twice. Other guards heard the shots and opened fire.

Send Riot Call
A riot call was sent to the city police headquarters for assistance. The prison is not in the heart of the city.

In the meantime, inside the prison, the nine would-be escapees had been cornered by guards. After a brief parley, in which Whittemore is reported to have been spokesman for the insurgents, they surrendered. Four were sent to the hospital suffering from slight bruises suffered when they fell from the wall in attempting to lose over their rope ladder. Two pistols were found in the group, one of which had been taken from Owen.

Collector Finds Art Masterpiece

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A painting discarded in a New York auction room and purchased by an art collector on a gamble for $55 has proved to be a Flemish masterpiece by Rubens worth $25,000.

The painting, a master study for "The Madonna of the Rosary," in the Lenin-grad museum was hidden beneath layers of overpainting.

Julius H. Weitzner, however, was impressed by the authority of the composition and bought the painting. Experts removed several layers of paint and revealed the original design as Rubens left it in 1620.

POLICEMAN DIES OF GUN WOUNDS

Tells Of Battle In Dark Before Death Comes; Faced Two Men

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—Walter Cummins, 41, night policeman of Wyoming, a suburb, was shot and killed early today by two men apparently burglars, whom he surprised lurking about a residence.

Before he died at a hospital, Cummins told details of the shooting.

The patrolman said one was standing near a parked auto. The other was in the shadows of a residence. Cummins decided to investigate.

As he approached the man, who apparently was acting as lookout, the individual drew a pistol, but Cummins grabbed the barrel and told him to hand the weapon over.

"Let him go or I'll let you have it," came a voice from the shadows, and the second man suddenly opened fire on Cummins.

Cummins returned the fire, emptying his revolver at the second thug. Cummins fell to the ground wounded. The men escaped.

GEISKING DENIES LINGLE SLAYING

Accused Indiana Gangster In Defiant Mood As Officials Arrive

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 17.—Maintaining that he is being "framed" for the gang murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, Ted Geisking and his attorneys today fought to evade extradition to Chicago.

Geisking's attorneys last night asked permission to file a writ of habeas corpus to obtain the release of the Indiana gangster before he could be questioned by Chicago authorities.

Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office at Chicago arrived here today with two Chicagoans who witnessed the slaying of Lingle last June 9 in a crowded pedestrian subway.

The witnesses today were to view Geisking in an attempt to identify him as the racketeering reporter's slayer.

Defiant in his cell, Geisking said he would return to Indiana for trial for hi-jackings and an asserted jail break, but defied anyone to get him into Illinois.

AT THE STATE "On Your Back"

Petite and charming young maidenhood in all its glory is strikingly exemplified by the stunning frocks and gowns worn by Marion Shilling, beautiful ingenue in "On Your Back," Fox movie production featuring Irene Rich and H. B. Warner, which plays to the State theater.

The background of the story is in and about a fashionable gown shop in New York and deals primarily with the career of an ambitious mother who fails to understand the love of her son for a sweet girl. As a frequent patron of the establishment, Miss Shilling, the girl, wears many beautiful gowns.

The Fashion Show scene, which is one of the most gorgeous pageants of fashion ever brought to the screen, brings out every detail of the exquisite models which are displayed by a group of alluring models.

"On Your Back" is the true-to-life story of a lowly dressmaker who rose through her own efforts to become the leading modiste of New York's fashion center. Irene Rich in this role of a modern sophisticated caterer to the slaves of fashion marks a new milestone on her rise to the dramatic heights.

H. B. Warner, Raymond Hackett, Marion Shilling, Ika Chase, Wheeler Oakman and Charlotte Henry complete the all-star featured cast.

Howard J. Green made the adaptation and wrote the dialog for the screen version of Rita Weisman's popular story which appeared in magazine form.

AT THE GRAND "The Locked Door"

For sheer dramatic merit and entertainment values, few all-dialogue pictures of the coming year are expected to surpass the popularity of "The Locked Door," George Fitzmaurice's all-dialogue production featuring the bill at the Grand theater.

Vivid, elemental drama—the clashing of strong wills against a background of sea-going night clubs, police raids and a murder—forms the basic point of interest of this swift moving story of life in modern New York City.

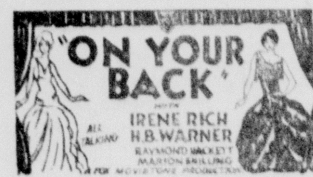

Unhindered by stringent cast budgets and told to go the limit by John W. Considine, Jr., production head of United Artists, Fitzmaurice selected only such players he considered were temperamentally and artistically suited for their roles, regardless of expense.

The result is a cast of star acting talent that has seen few, if any, equals in the brief history of the "talkies." Rod La Rocque, Barbara Stanwyck, William Boyd and Betty Bronson head the list of players, with Zasu Pitts, Mack Swain, Harry Mastayer, Harry Stubbs, Clarence Burton, George Bunny and Edward Dillon in important roles.

DEARBORN, MICH.—Henry Ford's museum is to have a dynamo and steam engine which his friend, Thomas A. Edison, installed in the world's first central power station in 1882. It is to be shipped from New York.
